An Editorial

(This editorial is in response to a pictorial editorial in last week's Hancock County Eagle. It is being run on the front page only because it questions the accuracy of similar material seen, three columns wide, on the front page.)

Our Response

In its pictorial the Echo undoubtedly makes errors of judgment, and, hard as we try not to make errors of fact, that happens also. Editorial matter, which is opinion, we do label as such and do not try to mislead the public into thinking it is otherwise. The publisher of the Eagle having said last September that "I'm no newspaperman" is in a position where we cannot criticize his failure to live up to these standards of newspapering. We can, however, comment when he misrepresents his readers.

That our juvenile competitor editorialized in what purported to be a picture news story is shown in the caption, where such phrases as "making great strides under its new head of Supervisor" and "As proof of this we show" are used.

Our fault with the story-editorial lies in what it labels proof. Let us in its underlying inaccuracy. The caption to the picture of a part of Flat Top road is correct in stating that this stretch of county road had been revealed during the administration of its present supervisor, Mr. L. M. Frierson. Sealing a road in to its construction, Mr. Frierson took office in January, 1960. The real work was done before Mr. Frierson took office in January, 1960. Give the Supervisor credit for the real credit.

Two pictures are shown in the story-editorial of the new bridge over Mill Creek and referred to as improvements "under Mr. L. M. Frierson". The bridge was built with state aid funds and not local funds. Specifications had been completed and state approval secured long before Mr. Frierson took office. Funds had been set aside before Mr. Frierson's election. In essence, Mr. Frierson had nothing to do with the building of this bridge except watch it being built.

This paper will be glad to give Mr. Frierson credit for any good, improvement or otherwise, he does for his beat, his county, his state, his country, the world in which we live or the universe. We will also give him credit for any disservices he renders. This time, in his name, a disclaimer was rendered his constituents and the rest of Hancock County through misleading information.

Councilmen Will Seek Reelection

Mayor John A. Scatena and City Commissioners Warren Traub and J. Cyril Glover, Jr., this week said they will be candidates for re-election this spring.

The Democratic primary will be May 9 for city offices and the general election will be June 6, midnight, April 8, in the deadline for candidates to qualify with the Bay St. Louis Democratic executive committee and to file petitions as nominees.

George Stevenson, chairman of the committee, said to date no one has officially declared themselves to the committee for any of the offices, including the incumbents. He noted that it is still too early to tell what opposition, if any, there may be. Other members of the executive committee, who along with Stevenson also may be seeking reelection to the committee, are Ben Hill and Maurice Arpaga.

Mayor Scatena is now completing his second year term. Commissioner Glover has been in office 12 years. Commissioner Traub was appointed in 1956 to (Cont. on Page 4.)

CARL MARSHALL, JR.

C.L. (RED) MOBLEY

Marshall, Mobley Join Coast Power

Appointment of Carl Marshall, Jr., to the newly created post of head of the member relations department and addition to C. L. (Red) Mobley to the engineering department was announced this week by H. H. Shattuck, manager of Coast Electric Power Assn.

Shattuck said the additions to the staff will enable the cooperative which serves Hancock, Pearl River and Harrison Counties to keep pace with the growing demand for service in rural areas. Both men joined the firm this week.

Coast Electric has had a home commission on the staff for some time but with Marshall's appointment, he will take over as head of a full-fledged department which is being organized.

One of a well-known Coast attorney, Marshall is a native of Bay St. Louis and plans to move back here permanently from New Orleans with his wife and two children as soon as his home in the city can be disposed of. They are expected to join him here shortly.

He was connected with Westinghouse in New Orleans following service in the Army from 1953 to 1955 as a distributor salesman for electric appliances and supplies. The Marshall family moved from the Bay in 1947. He attended Bay High School through the 10th grade and was graduated from Scammon Military Academy and the University of Virginia.

Marshall is a member of Bay-Waveland Yacht Club and has been in sailing for the last six years in calling activities there. He is married to the former Kathryn Olson of Flint, Mich., and their (Cont. on Page 4.)

Nab Theft Suspects

Release Hijacker On Habeas Corpus

James Blackwell who was arrested Jan. 20 by Gulfport police in connection with the December $4,200 hijacking of a Stiefel Bros., truck, was released Tuesday on $20,000 bond by Judge Leslie B. Grant after a hearing on a petition for a writ of habeas corpus in Wiggins. He will await action of the grand jury here in March.

The petition sought Blackwell's release from Harrison County jail where he has been held on charges of armed robbery and carrying a concealed weapon. Armed robbery normally is a non-bailable offense in Mississippi.

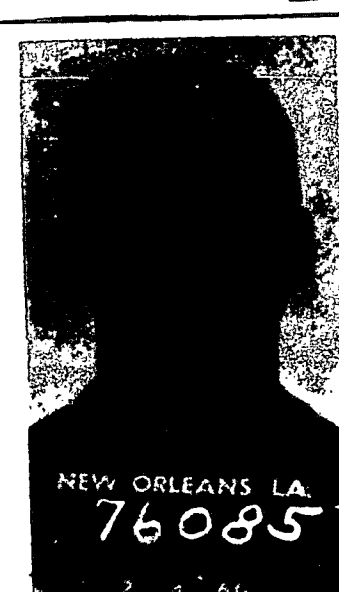

District Attorney Boyce Holloman said Tuesday he is preparing extradition papers seeking the return to Mississippi of two other hijacking suspects being held in Solano, Calif.

Holloman identified the suspects as Eugene and Charles Evans. The brothers were arrested Jan. 17 by authorities in Solano County and Sheriff Gerald V. Price reported today that at least 12 burglaries of recent weeks have been solved. Four older youths have confessed to participation in one or more of the break-ins, according to Sheriff Price, and one other may be implicated. At the request of the sheriff, the Echo is withholding the names of the young criminals pending final disposition.

Two or more of the youths have admitted to each of the recent thefts from St. Stanislaus College, Bay Bowling Center, Beach Economy Drug, Pizazz Barber Shop, McFarland Clinic, Blossman Gas Co., Waveland Lumber Co., John Duro, W. H. Hodges, the Sea Coast Echo and the Hancock County Eagle as well as the theft of three laptops from the automobile of Dan M. Russell, Jr., and breaking and entering Our Lady of the Gulf Elementary School.

Among items reported stolen were over $100 in cash, checks, personal valued at $75, whiskey, cigarettes, a watch, cigarette lighters, 22 cal. rifle and shotgun shells, a flashlight and fishing reel. Sheriff Price also reported that, except for the money and checks, most of the items have been recovered and restitution of the money is expected.

The apprehension of the youths clears up a major segment of minor crime which has plagued the county during recent months. (Cont. on Page 4.)

SOUGHT - Sought in connection with the robbery last week of Wm-Dixie's Bay St. Louis store is Alfred Andrews, Negro, pictured above. Andrews has the index, middle, ring and little fingers of one hand amputated and earlier this week was in New Orleans, according to the sheriff's office, which, along with Constable Pat Garcia, has been investigating the robbery. The suspect, 27, is described as being five-foot, nine and weighing 178 pounds. Sheriff Gerald V. Price said he also is being charged with unlawful flight.

Arrest 2 Youths in Car Theft

Two New Orleans juveniles, 13 and 15, were arrested at 8 a.m. Saturday by Chief Deputy Sheriff Gerald V. Price, Jr., on charges of auto theft and were released Saturday afternoon to Louisiana juvenile authorities.

Deputy Price reported he had been called to investigate an abandoned car on Hancock Avenue and found the 1956 Chevrolet locked up. An unsuccessful effort, he said, had been made to change a flat tire.

A little later he found the two youths hiding behind a sign at the Frosty Inn at the intersection of U. S. 90 and N. Beach Blvd.

Both boys have long records and were out on probation on charges of auto theft and assault and battery.

Bay Bowling Alley was entered sometime early Sunday and about $15 in cash and a quantity of cigarettes were taken. Investigating officers City (Cont. on Page 4.)

Raid Slot Machine Near Weston

A Saturday night raid by Sheriff Gerald V. Price netted one slot machine found in Boykin's Place on State Rt. 43 near Weston.

The sheriff reported he seized the slot and will place the $24.96 found in it in the county's general fund.

No charges were made against the owner of the tavern. Price warned he will continue seizing any slots found.

The senior queens are Virginia Broland and Shirley Davis. Carol Bottegato and Nina Kay Evelyn are the junior queens and the sophomore crown holders are Christina Torgerson and Dianne Dickson. Selected in the freshman class were Kathy Kramer and Carol Ann Smith.

Each class selected five girls to compete in the contest and then the entire student body voted for two girls from each class. The balloting, done in each home room, was conducted by the journalism class.

The queens will reign over various school events until schools close for summer vacation.

Board Says Buses Out For Parochial Pupils

The county board of education, meeting Monday night, reiterated its position that under the present state laws it is prohibited from furnishing transportation to children attending parochial schools.

Alton D. Keller, Beat 2 trustee, brought up the question at the onset of the meeting. He said he had been told repeatedly by persons in his beat that since Mrs. C. C. McDonald, former Beat 5 trustee, was no longer on the board he was the only member blocking county authorities in furnishing this service.

"There is nothing we can do about it without special legislation," Keller continued, asserting it is not a matter for the board to decide. President Charles B. Murphy also reported complaints on the policy and had told the people the board would be glad to discuss it with concerned parents at some Saturday meeting. He expressed the view that private contract buses might be able to haul the children if there were any room.

Keller recalled that when Walter J. Phillips, board attorney, had been in the state legislature, he had endeavored to get a bill through to this end but it had been blocked by the northern counties.

A. Gordon Courage, the new Beat 5 member, said he had been told Harrison County transported parochial school students and had replied he knew nothing of that.

Also on the bus front, Beat 3 Trustee Lucie Nacaste recalled prior discussion about establishing a garage at the old Kim School, suggesting it might be expedient to have something near North Central School which uses most of buses. Superintendent of Education Kenneth G. Mc-

Carthy expressed doubt the state would approve one there as they normally are located at the county seat but said he would write and find out.

The board agreed to table advertising old bus parts for sale until it can go over the equipment following its meeting Monday. Courage observed the system is sadly in need of several new buses.

Nacaste inquired about figures McCarthy had promised on a comparison between operation of private vs. county owned buses. The superintendent said he would have a tabulation at the end of the session and expected he would state officials the private system was cheaper.

Reverting of the old Sellers School property was tabled for the time being at Nacaste's suggestion. McCarthy proposed offering the property as a unit, as well as in separate parcels in (Cont. on Page 4.)

Tennessee Gas Pays Whopping Tax Bill

Sheriff Gerald V. Price received a check from Tennessee Gas Pipeline Co., Wednesday for 1960 taxes in the amount of $67,329.53. He said that the 1960 were over three times the amount paid in 1959 because of its expansion here.

Extensive Wildlife Farm Slated

20 acre $50,000 wildlife farm is being built on U. S. 90 near the Lakeshore road. It is expected to be one of the largest privately owned wildlife farms in the nation and will be, as one phase, what is to be the largest turtle farm in the world.

The operation, Trans World Wildlife Farms, is being built by Joe Wright of New Orleans, now owner of Vesperan Animal Import Co., which is to be merged with Trans World. The local farm will have better than 35,000 living specimens of wildlife at all times and the operation will be open to the public. It is to be ready about June 1.

Joe Wright, artist, naturalist and lecturer, said the farm is being established to supply zoos, collectors, pet suppliers and research laboratories throughout the country as well as interested local residents and tourists with animals of all kinds. The company will raise some animals and secure others from around the world, acclimate them to "civilization" and sell them to the zoos, pet suppliers and co.

Wright said the various phases of the farm planned immediately or for the future include:

1. The turtle farm already established on the site and now stocked with 25,000 turtles, the small ones such as sold in variety stores and pet shops throughout the nation. There will eventually be 20 turtle ponds. Wright said there are 3,600,000 such turtles alive in the United States each year.

2. Establishment of a research laboratory on turtles is a project for the future.

3. Monkeys are to be imported as well as bred and raised here. Wright said they will convert the present building on the land to house 100 monkeys.

4. A deer forest will be established at the back of the site with the possibility of buffalo and elephants later. An area will be fenced for deer close to the highway during the early stages of the development, he added.

5. An alligator farm is to be included to enable aesthetic studies of reptiles.

6. Minor birds will be imported as songbirds from India and Java and taught to talk before being sold. Wright said 50 birds will be imported and trained at a time.

7. All other kinds of wild animals, including lions, varieties of tigers and elephants will be imported from India, South America, Singapore and Africa for resale.

8. Beal will attempt to breed animals that have been found to be not easily adaptable to the North American climate.

While the animals are here, awaiting resale, they will be on exhibit to the public, Wright said. The ground will be landscaped with a jungle atmosphere and future plans include a small train for visitors to ride throughout the grounds of the wildlife farm. It will have a 400 foot frontage on U. S. 90 with colorful cutout drawings of animals all along the fence to attract attention. Wright said that unlike a zoo established strictly for visitors, the exhibits will be secondary here. This wildlife farm will be continuously changing as animals are secured, sold and replaced with others.

Wright said he will be a zoologist and lecturer. He will be working on drawings of animals to be used around the wildlife farm being built in Hancock County near Lakeshore.

Monday Deadline For Registration Of New Voters

Only voters who have not previously registered to vote in Hancock County and Bay St. Louis need register at this time, City Commissioner J. Cyril Glover, Jr., reports.

He said persons who have registered and voted here before need not register now to vote in the Democratic Primary May 9 or the general election May 6.

The commissioner said persons who have passed their 21st birthday or who have moved here since the last election must register both with city and the county no later than Monday.

An Indian Trading Post was the center of interest when the Women's Missionary Union of Waveland Baptist Church met last week at the home of Mrs. J. D. Green. Objects on display included blankets, beads, pottery, Indian corn of four colors, baskets, dolls, a drum and pompons and miniature wigwams.

Among the pre-nuptial courtesies extended to Miss Parker was a miscellaneous shower last Friday evening when Mrs. Watson Johns, Jr., was hostess. Red and white carnella blossoms adorned the reception rooms in keeping with the Valentine motif. For the occasion, Miss Parker selected from her trousseau an Italian raw silk model of navy with matching accessories and wore at her shoulder her gift corsage of white carnations. Her mother chose a winter print of variegated blues and Mrs. Bliven selected a blue checked ensemble. Their flowers were pink carnations.

The red and white motif prevailed on the refreshment table which was covered with a white linen cloth and trimmed with the same blossoms. Other appointments were in crystal. About 35 guests attended.

McCarthy Hopes More Federal Aid for Schools

The county superintendent of schools, expressed hope Tuesday that federal funds will be available soon to help local school programs.

Kenneth G. McCarthy said that while in Washington, D. C., for the inauguration of President John F. Kennedy he was unable to confer with officials concerning aid for this area as he had expected to. He added, however, he is hopeful the new administration will soon push through a federal aid to education program.

The superintendent explained he will fight to get Hancock County the share of federal aid when it is available unless Mississippi decides not to accept federal aid because of the federal school integration policies.

He hoped he felt it would be foolish for the state to reject such aid while other states accept the funds. McCarthy added he believes acceptance or rejection of the school aid funds will have no effect on whether or not a state will be protected by the federal government to end school segregation.
